Photographic Gallery

In this issue we are really pleased to include a stunning portfolio from Chris Hands. Chris has come to diving relatively recently, but has brought with him the skills acquired in his job as a professional photographer. Chris's ability to "see" a picture, and compose all of the elements underwater, are highlighted in this selection of his shots. Shooting on both 35mm SLR film, and digital cameras, Chris's preferred format is wide-angle photography. This allows him to portray wonderful creatures in their marine environment, so that every picture evokes emotion and tells a story. This year Chris has been running highly successful Photoshop Workshops, and has helped many Adventure Divers to become more competent underwater photographers.
